

What is the Real Estate Circle?

- The Columbia Business School Real Estate Circle is an exclusive alumni-only group that provides unique networking opportunities and educational events for its members.
- Programs are designed to encourage network building and professional development, and often include monthly market updates, access to Columbia University faculty thought leaders, intimate gatherings with leading real estate practitioners and business leaders, and exclusive behind the scenes tours of signature real estate projects.
- Membership supports education, fellowships, research, and industry engagement at the Paul Millstein Center for Real Estate and has an immediate impact on the Center's mission to educate the next generation of business leaders about the practice of real estate within an ever-changing global market.
- Membership currently crosses 15 US States, 40 graduations years, and includes members from UK, Latin America, and Abu Dhabi.
- Membership gifts are tax-deductible and often company sponsored or matched.
- The Leadership gift tier is $5,000, the Associate gift tier is $2,000.
- The “non-resident” membership gift tier is $2,500, and the “recent grad” gift tier is $500.

How do I join the Real Estate Circle?

- Membership gifts can be made online at <https://business.givenow.columbia.edu/#> Select “Other” on the dropdown menu and include “Real Estate Circle” within the Allocation Instructions.
- Email pmc@gsb.columbia.edu with your questions or to confirm your gift.